

Ode to Christjoy

Madi Kennedy '28

The first day of COMM 203...

What can we expect, what can we see?

We walk in nervous, unsure what's ahead,
With speech fears and worries stuck in our head.

But whispers around campus had all said the same:

"Take Christjoy's class - he's earned his name."

Great reviews online had set hopes high,

So we took our seats with a curious eye,

But then enters Christjoy with a grin so bright,

Turning fear to excitement, nerves to delight.

Though public speaking feels intense,

He helps us grow in confidence.

We leave our shells and find our voice,

To speak with power and rejoice!

So here's to COMM 203's great art,

Of speaking boldly from the heart.

In Christjoy's class, we've come so far;

From timid kids to speaking stars.
